What does it look like in action?

Using a no-code workflow engine, Order Management Workflow creates a path for your documents (sales orders, quotes, invoices, and returns) to move through until completion. This path, or "workflow," includes different queues representing each stage in the workflow process. Your orders are pushed through the fulfillment process and alert relevant personnel automatically when their intervention is needed.

Order Management Workflow can also automate these processes:

- Inventory allocation
- Emailing documents
- Creating shipping & picking documents
- Payment authorization

What is a "no-code workflow engine"?

A no-code workflow engine is a user-friendly drag-and-drop interface built into Order Management Workflow designed to make the assembly of workflows easier and more efficient. The workflow engine lets users build, update, and modify their various process flows over time to meet the needs of the business.
